

Australian Primary Care Prevocational Program – Metro and Rural

FEDERATION FUNDING AGREEMENT – HEALTH

Table 1: Formalities and operation of schedule
Parties	Commonwealth New South Wales
Duration	This Schedule is expected to expire on 31 March 2028 or on completion of final performance reporting unless terminated earlier or extended as agreed in writing by the Parties.
Purpose	Funding is provided to contribute to the delivery of the Australian Primary Care Prevocational Program (APCPP) – Metro and the APCPP – Rural [formerly John Flynn Prevocational Doctor Program (JFPDP)] for increased primary care rotations for eligible hospital-based prevocational junior doctors: Under the APCPP – Metro, metropolitan rotations will be prioritised in Aboriginal Medical Services or Distribution Priority Areas (DPA) Modified Monash Model 2019 (MM) 1 locations. These rotations will be available, in order of priority, to MM1 based Australian Medical Graduates (AMGs) and Foreign Graduates of an Accredited Medical School (FGAMS) prevocational doctors. Rural rotations will be available in MM 2–7 locations and prioritised in the following order: AMGs, FGAMS and International Medical Graduates (IMGs). The Health Workforce Locator provides MM location and DPA classifications. The objectives of the APCPP are: • Delivering of rotations between public hospitals and accredited primary care settings to increase the supply of doctors in General Practitioner (GP) and Rural Generalist (RG) training to meet the ongoing healthcare needs of Australian communities. • Expanding the number and distribution of primary care prevocational rotations. • Strengthening training pathways to training networks funded by the New South Wales Government within their region and address community needs.

- Developing training capacity and fostering innovative ways to provide prevocational doctors with a positive experience during their training period in primary care settings.
- Supporting the GP Workforce and National Rural Generalist Pathway (NRGP).

The intended outcomes of the APCPP are:

- Increased recruitment and retention of medical graduates and prevocational doctors in general practice and primary care.
- Greater uptake of general practice and rural generalist vocational training.
- Increased medical training capacity, including the intention for general practices to operate as vertically integrated teaching units for medical students, prevocational doctors, and GP registrars.
- Encouraging Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander prevocational training in primary care settings and to improve health outcomes for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people through increased access to primary care.
- Strengthening the training pathway for general practice and rural generalism in expanded settings.
- Enhanced training networks to increase the supply of doctors in training to address workforce shortages and meet the changing health needs of Australians.

Priority areas for the funding provided by this Schedule include:

- Establishing linkages with training and workforce organisations and with local primary care health services (particularly Aboriginal Medical services and/or Aboriginal Community Controlled Health Services) to address medical workforce supply and geographic distribution needs in your region.
- Supporting the training of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander prevocational doctors.
- Delivering rotations in high priority and community need areas, with particular emphasis on areas that support an Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander workforce and service delivery.
- Providing prevocational doctors with a positive and high-quality experience during their placement in primary care and general practice settings.
- Supporting 'grow your own' approaches for training networks to support local workforce development and community need.
- Providing rotations in general practices or medical centres, primary care settings that provide bulk billing and Urgent Care Clinics (UCC).

	Establishing linkages with rural clinical schools and the Royal Australian College of General Practitioners (RACGP) and the Australian College of Rural and Remote Medicine (ACRRM) to encourage greater uptake of general practice and rural generalist vocational training.
Estimated financial contributions	The Commonwealth will provide a maximum financial contribution to New South Wales of $46.50 million in respect of this Schedule, including: $41.50 million for APCPP – Rural $5.00 million for APCPP – Metro Funding covers delivery of the APCPP up to and including the 2027 calendar year. Unused funding contributions for the Metro stream may be allocated to the Rural stream to increase the number of rural rotations. Additional terms	New South Wales will be required to deliver the APCPP consistent with the objectives, outcomes and priority areas described above under 'Purpose'. New South Wales is responsible for: - Acting as a lead agency of a consortium including Coordination Units. - Providing all participating junior doctors with assistance and support related to the training. - Engaging supervisors of APCPP prevocational doctors, who will be responsible for providing a safe and positive environment within the training facility that promotes and supports the safety of the prevocational doctor, patients, practice staff and other clinicians and the delivery of competent medical care.

- Engaging with the community and consider community needs in determining APCPP rotations.
- Ensuring the primary care rotation is accredited for training consistent with the Australian Medical Council's National Framework for Prevocational Medical Training.

Reporting

New South Wales is responsible for administering the APCPP participant survey, obtaining consent from participants and providing the results to the Department of Health, Disability and Ageing (the Department). The Commonwealth will use outputs provided by New South Wales in Table 2 to track program performance and evaluate the success of the program against the listed objectives, and in achieving the desired program outcomes. These measures will also be used for ongoing policy development and program evaluation.

Data

New South Wales will be required to provide participant data to the Commonwealth on an annual basis to support longitudinal tracking of workforce outcomes for APCPP participants and to inform future policy on the direction of the program.

APCPP Review

The Department will undertake a review of the APCPP to ensure the program is delivering its intended outcomes and recommendations to refine the program. New South Wales will be required to provide:

- Data which includes placement data for APCPP participants.
- Summary of results of surveys conducted to capture participant experiences.
- Other information as determined by the department to inform the review.
